PASSCODE™ GAME EXPERT REPORT

Thank you for completing the PassCode™ game which measures your cognitive ability in attention.

Cognitive tests are the single biggest predictors of subsequent job success compared to all other types of assessments.

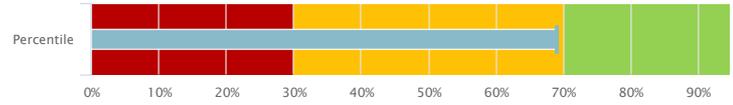

You scored at the 69th percentile. This means you did better than 69% of the comparison group to which your score was compared.

Organisations typically look for individuals who score higher than the 30th percentile with cognitive tests, but with games such as these, they may increase the pass mark to around the 50th percentile mark.

Practicing the game assessment will help you improve your performance by increasing familiarity and reducing anxiety. Take the game again if you want to give your cognitive ability the best chance of doing its best on the real day of your assessment.

IMPROVING YOUR PERFORMANCE

A commonality across the majority, if not all, gamified assessments is assessing you against your ability to attend. Many of these often require fast reaction times.

Just how much can you focus during the course of assessments with minor intricacies?

PassCode™ is no different. The game requires a high level of focus if you are to click at the exact right time of a particular digit being highlighted.

The game essentially looks at your ability to focus and attend, but also bounce back and show resilience to overcome a challenging task.

Thus, we recommend cultivating your environment and mind to best equip yourself to deal with this detail.

Aside from focusing on timing your clicks just right, you should address the following points. This will give yourself a better chance to demonstrate your ability and get a higher score than you would otherwise. Ensure:

- you have a good night's rest prior to the assessment
- you take the assessment in a comfortable place (heating, lighting, ergonomical) with plenty of room where there will be no interruptions and the noise level is very low
- you have adequate levels of energy - i.e. you have had a moderate breakfast (if in the morning)
- you are well and healthy - if you are not feeling well, try and avoid taking the assessment
- you perform some relaxation techniques with deep yet paced breathing shortly prior to the testing session, if you suffer from anxiety
- you have had a comfort break, as you will not be allowed to leave the assessment midway and return
- you have reading glasses with you if you need them
- you have a glass of water for hydration during the assessment
- you read the instructions carefully

We hope this helps to improve your performance on PassCode™. Keep practicing and good luck!
